

What's new at Withers ?

At The Withers Group we have updated our image with the new logo you can see in the above graphic to take us into the 21st Century.

Why? - we have bought all our contracting services under one umbrella for ease of administration and service to our customers.

All our jobs will continue to be pro-actively monitored through our web based job management system WIN—Withers Intelligent Network.

How does it all work?

The company trades in three major areas.

- 1 Piling and Foundation Solutions.
- 2 Insurance Repair Contracts and
- 3 Retro fit Basement construction.

The key players?

Directors:

Richard , Robert and Ann Withers who all play an active part in the day to day running of the company.

Senior Managers

Malcolm Rising—has been with the company in excess of 25 years , his subsidence and building repair knowledge is second to none in the areas we operate

Kirk Jull—has been with the company coming up 15 years and runs the piling operations for the company. His expertise in restricted access piling and piled underpinning schemes, together with the plant we operate , means there is virtually no job in the field we cannot efficiently tackle.

Contracts Managers:

Jim Moore—has been with the company since completing his degree over 7 years ago , having cut his teeth on the builders repairs and underpinning section of the company , now he is the contract manager for our retro fit basement division, but also gets involved in the larger underpinning contracts as well.

Bill Dench—recently joined the company , and predominantly works on the superstructure repairs for the insured peril works . Bill worked for Improve-line prior to it's acquisition by Home-serve and brings to the company a wealth of knowledge around the customer experience and improving our service standards to insurers and adjustors.

Adam Doyle—Business Development Manager , Adams "selling" experience before he joined the group has enabled us to capitalise in areas of the business targeted for expansion.

Operations :

We have two strong operations guys in Trevor Giles and Keith Davies both have come up through the ranks of on site foreman to their current positions and offer invaluable help to our current foreman and support to the contracts managers.

Add this to over 50 directly employed operatives , a competent set of sub contractors , an administration team set up in Croydon with a team leader who has been with the company over 30 years, and a willingness to provide excellent service and standards - what have you got THE WITHERS GROUP , a fourth generation family business.
